concatenate if statements into one line in Ada? I have the following piece of code: if (test1 = 0 and test2 = 0) then x := x + 1; else if (test1 = 1 and test2 = 0) then x := x - 1; else if (test1 = 0 and test2 = 1) then x := x + 1; end if; i.e. I'm trying to code some logical statements into the same line in Ada. I could do this in C++, but I was wondering if there is a way to do it in Ada. I've tried doing something like this: `if (test1 = 0, test2 = 0) then x := x + 1; end if;`

This doesn't work, unfortunately. Is there an easier way to do it? A: This is one way: `x := x + (test1 = 0 or test2 = 0);` That's called a "conditional operator" in Ada, and if you google that you should be able to find more information about how to use it. The basic idea behind it is that it's an alternate way to write code like "if(test1=0 && test2=0) { /* do something */ }". It
